

Covid – international comparisons

Wednesday 1 December 2021

17:00 – 18:15

Online

It is clear from reading the media that different countries have been affected by covid to differing extents and have approached the in various ways. The same is true for rail networks throughout the world. The next seminar will examine how different operators have been affected and look at steps that have been taken to deal with reductions in demand and to stimulate traffic.

Mircea Steriu works for the International Association of Public Transport (UITP). He is the Statistics Manager in the Knowledge & Innovation department, developing data-driven tools which serve to highlight the benefits of public transport in cities Mircea runs an extensive benchmarking exercise, tracking the impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on the public transport sector, drawing lessons from the various measures put in place to contain and mitigate the public health crisis.
